

IRISH POLICE ALARM BRITISH

English Worried Because of Disatisfaction In Constabulary Ranks

TROOPS FLOOD ISLAND

Constables Resign, Refusing to Work With Men
From England.

By DENNIS O'CONNELL,
(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Dublin, July 12.—Disatisfaction in the ranks of the Irish constabulary is increasing, a fact which is giving grave alarm to the British government.

Following the reported revolt of the Kerry police, fourteen constables at Listowel, in that county, who refused to carry out Col. Smith's orders to shoot down any persons met in the roadway, tendered their resignations. Their chief refused to accept them, but five of the constables quit the barracks.

Col. Smith was appointed divisional commander a fortnight ago. He holds extraordinary powers, apparently amounting to life-or-death control over all persons living in his district.

Reports from many parts of Ireland show an increasing tendency among the rank and file of the police to refuse to obey orders. In the last few months Englishmen have been drafted into the ranks owing to the refusal of young Irishmen to join. Most of the older police refuse to co-operate with the new hands and resignations are becoming general, even among men within a year or two of life pensions. The result is that the Royal Irish Constabulary is now manned mostly by Englishmen.

It is evident that British military are about to carry out an intensified campaign and in anticipation of this there is a tense atmosphere throughout the island. Nevertheless, the Sinn Feiners carry out their activities undeterred, even in Cork, which is flooded with British troops. Everywhere the authorities are having a lively time with these rebels. Mails are held up daily and police and soldiers are continually harassed by groups of masked Sinn Feiners.

Hyattsville, Md.

Hyattsville, July 12.—The Riverdale Athletic Club has elected the following officers: Geo. T. Montgomery, president; Gus Knapp, vice president; Mr. Veneman, treasurer; and Reuben Gordon, secretary.

Yesterday afternoon Robert Sullivan drove into town in his buggy at a wild clip. Leaping from the buggy he stormed at the door of County Officer Garrison, but Garrison was not at home. He told persons there had been a couple of murders just committed at Bladensburg, and leaping into the buggy was off down the road toward that town. Anxious to see what it was all about, Constable William H. Tobin and others jumped into an automobile and started after him. When they arrived at Bladensburg, however, they found that Sullivan had given a false alarm. Sullivan was locked up by Officer Wallace C. Raybold, and locked up in the Bladensburg jail on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. A few minutes later, his brother-in-law, Peter Redmond, was arrested on similar charges.

County Officer Thomas H. Garrison and other authorities are searching for William Johnson, colored, who is wanted for theft. He is charged with entering the store of Uile Brothers at Beltsville, this county, several nights ago and stealing clothing and other articles worth about $200. Apprehended in Alexandria, Va., with the stolen articles in his possession, he was brought here by Garrison. Upon arriving here he succeeded in breaking out of the handcuffs and escaping. Garrison whipped out his revolver, and fired three shots at Johnson. After the third shot, Johnson was seen to fall. He recovered, however, and got away.

Paregoric Jags Are Not Illegal, Woman Asserts

Richmond, Va., July 12.—Is a paregoric jag a violation of the Virginia prohibition statutes? That question was raised in Police Court by Edgar B. English, counsel for Mrs. P. E. Leake, 38 years old, when she was arraigned on the charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicants.

English insisted that there was nothing in the statutes with reference to paregoric and that a person under its influence was not necessarily intoxicated.

Mrs. Leake admitted that paregoric had been prescribed for her for nervousness and that she had drunk some of this liquid from a bottle which was found on her person. She was arrested at 2 a. m. while driving her automobile along Chamberlayne avenue.

PALS OF GOLD RUSH REUNITED

Pike's Peak Argonauts Meet
After Nearly 60 Years
Of Isolation.

Grantville, Md., July 12.—Jonas J. Beachy, aged 89, of Mount Nebo, a knoll on the Gaselman River, three miles east of Grantville, and Capt. William M. Schrock, aged 88, Somerset, Pa., had a reunion at the Beachy home last week. They were Pike's Peak argonauts in 1859 and this was their first meeting in sixty years, although they had lived comparatively close to each other. In fact they discovered through a recent newspaper article. Mr. Beachy had gone from Grantville with his father in 1856 to Ogle, now Ashton, Ill. In 1859 a party set out from Ogle for Pike's Peak gold fields, which were never reached. The argonauts turned back after being in sight of the Rocky Mountains. After getting back to Illinois, following many hardship and perils, Beachy and Schrock separated. Schrock returned to Somerset and raised a company for the Union army. Beachy returned to Grantville in 1862. The visit of Capt. Schrock to Mr. Beachy was a surprise, and when he drove up the almost nonexistent road was mowing timothy with a scythe. He is well preserved, as is Capt. Schrock, who is still active as a surveyor and meteorologist. He is a former editor of the Somerset Standard, and for many years was county superintendent of bridges.
